Dear Mr. Wood,

I have not writtens you yet because I was in a play and doing other things. I still collect coins and have some pretty good ones too and quite a few. I have quite a few match boxes and some pretty rare ones. My sister helps me to sort them out. I fey you would send me those match boxes I should like it very much. Please send them either by express collect or let me remit the postage.

Please thank Mr. Robertson for the coin that aunt Dorothy brought down. I hope you are well. The whole family is fine.

Dear Jack:

Your letter at hand and my daughter Sylvia who has been collecting match covers for the past year sent to you yesterday, by parcel post, a good assortment of her duplicates. The number of these may distress your family but if you and your sister look these over at odd times and don't try to do them all at once I think you can get by without meeting the disapproval of your parents. I trust you will find a great many that you have not already. I want you to note carefully the string that was used to tie up the package. Please do not remit the cost of the postage - this comes out of the general deficiency fund and is already forgotten. Please remember me to your aunt and tell her I will have the coin analyzed.

Very truly yours,
